Supporting your child's wellbeing

27 April 2020

Dear Parents and Carers

During this difficult time, the school wants to reach out to let you know that, even though our school is currently closed to all but a few children, we're still here to support your child and your family in whatever way we can. We're extremely grateful for all the support you've shown us as we've adapted to these new circumstances and we want to reassure you that we are still here to support you, too.

As 'lockdown' continues, you might be noticing signs of increasing anxiety in your child as they're spending more time indoors and outside of their normal routines. These might include:

- Becoming afraid to leave the house
- Distancing themselves from their friends and family
- Exhibiting intense emotions, but being unable to talk about what they're feeling
- Acting out – this might include things like picking fights with you or with siblings or abusing alcohol or drugs

In this pack, we've put together some resources to help you support your child, whilst additional information and support can be found on your child's VLE: RESOURCE/care and guidance/student welfare. We hope you find the material helpful.

If you are unable to satisfy concerns or answer your queries, or you have any other wellbeing concerns about your child, please contact us at: wellbeing@williamfarr.lincs.sch.uk This email address can be used by both pupils, parents and carers. The emails will be accessed by our Head of Welfare, who will respond as soon as possible during school hours.

We can, and will, get through this together.

Wishing you the very best.

William Farr Care & Guidance team

Take care of yourself

It's really important right now to take care of your own physical and mental health. Children are very perceptive and they react to what they sense from the adults around them. Here are some things you can do to help keep yourself healthy:

- Connect with others – maintain relationships with people you care about through phone and video calls.
- Exercise – take some time every day to move. You could go for a walk or run. You'll also find lots of fitness videos online for everything from yoga to dance. Find something you enjoy and that makes you feel good.
- Eat healthy meals – try to keep a well-balanced diet and drink enough water.
- Get some sleep – being anxious or worried can have a big impact on your sleep. If you're struggling to get a good night's sleep, try to develop a calming bedtime routine – for example, do 10 minutes of yoga or listen to calming music. There are also apps you can download that provide guided meditation to help you get to sleep more quickly.
- Turn off the news – it's important to keep up to date, but the 24-hour news cycle can make you more anxious. Limit your exposure to the news to only a small amount of time, just enough to know what the latest government guidance is.
- Do things you enjoy – now that we're all spending more time at home, we can finally take up that hobby we've always meant to learn. Try baking or gardening or learning to knit. These are also great activities we can share with our children.
- Set goals – it's easy to lose track of the days in our current situation so it can be helpful to set daily and weekly goals to give us a sense of control and purpose. Examples might be setting a goal of walking for half an hour at least 3 times this week or reading a new book.
- Connect with the outdoors – depending on where you live, it may not be possible to spend time outside. If you don't have a garden or terrace, you can still open a window to let some fresh air and sunlight in. Put a comfortable chair by the window so you can look outside and get some air as you read a book.
- Talk to someone – during this difficult time, sharing with family and friends how you're feeling and what you're doing to cope can be helpful for both you and them. There are also helplines you can call for support – we've included a list at the end of this pack.

How to talk to your child about what's happening

No matter how calmly you manage the current environment, children are likely to be anxious so it's important to talk to them about what's happening.

For younger children

Children pick up bits of information from their friends, from the news and from listening to adults talking around them – but they can misunderstand what they're hearing.

Deal with the news head-on and talk about it openly and calmly, giving them the facts

- Coronavirus information/resource hub: <https://www.lpft.nhs.uk/young-people/lincolnshire/young-people/helping-you-help-yourself>
- Give them age-appropriate information – take a look at:
 - BBC Newsround hub – regularly updated with information and advice.
 - Children's guide to coronavirus – a download from the Children's Commissioner to help explain the situation to children.
- Teach them how to know if information they find on the internet is reliable. Explain how some stories on social media may be based on rumours or inaccurate information.
- Encourage them to take breaks from listening to or reading the news – overexposure isn't helpful.

Encourage questions

- This will give them the confidence to reach out if they have anything to ask.
- Be reassuring, but honest when answering questions – it's ok if you don't have all the answers.
- Be ready to answer the same question over and over – children tend to repeat themselves when they're feeling uncertain or worried so you might have to answer the same questions more than once as they seek extra reassurance.

Be a role model

- Recognise and manage your own worries first. Be open about your own feelings and let them know it's normal to be concerned – for example, let them know you're also finding the news a bit worrying and what you're doing to stay calm.

Explain how our body's immune system protects us

- It's constantly working against germs without us knowing. We can't and don't need to control this process.
- Explain that we're taking precautions against this particular germ because it's a new one which our bodies haven't come across before.
- Remind them how important it is that they eat healthy food, sleep and exercise, as this helps to fight germs.
- If it helps, reassure them that the effects of this virus on healthy young people are very mild.
- Visit <https://e-bug.eu/> for fun games and teaching resources on hand washing, respiratory hygiene, microbes and antibiotics – suitable for KS1 (junior),

Keep doing your bit to help children reduce the spread of germs

- Remind them to maintain good hygiene, like bathing daily and wearing fresh clothes.
- Encourage them to sing 'happy birthday' twice when they're washing their hands.

For older children

Older children will have the same anxieties about their own health and that of their family and friends as younger children. But they're also likely to feel socially isolated and worried about the result of school closures on their education and what life will be like after the pandemic is over.

In addition to the steps above:

Reassure them – you could check that they understand the information you've received so far about work and grading, in case there are any points of confusion or worry that the school could help to clarify.

- Encourage them to maintain social ties – relationships are especially important for older children so give them room to keep in touch with their friends.
- Equip them with accurate information – for example:
 - Coronavirus information/resource hub: <https://www.lpft.nhs.uk/young-people/lincolnshire/young-people/helping-you-help-yourself>
 - Mythbusters from the World Health Organization.
 - Data visualisation pack from Information is Beautiful (regularly updated).
 - <https://e-bug.eu/> for fun games and teaching resources on hand washing, respiratory hygiene, microbes and antibiotics – KS2 (senior) and KS3 (young adult).
- Share tools to help them manage anxiety

 - Mind: how to take care of your wellbeing when staying home

If your child struggles with higher levels of anxiety

Some children are naturally more anxious, such as those with existing phobias or obsessive-compulsive disorders. The current situation can make those anxieties worse.

- Get them to do activities, such as counting, ordering and sorting tasks, which can help them calm down.
- Encourage them to use relaxation techniques, such as controlled breathing.
- Look out for obsessive or compulsive behaviours and try to get ahead of them early by challenging unhelpful thoughts and assumptions.

If you're worried about your child's anxiety, YoungMinds is a charity dedicated to children's mental health. They've opened a parents' helpline for confidential, expert advice. You can reach them at: 0808 802 5544.

How to make home learning work for your family

We're realistic about what pupils will be able to do during this period and we want you to be, too.

You're not expected to become teachers and your children aren't expected to learn as they do in school.

Simply providing them with some structure at home will help them to adapt.

The following tips are designed to help you create a positive learning environment at home. See what works best for your household:

- Create and stick to a routine if you can. This is what children are used to. For example, eat breakfast at the same time and make sure they're dressed before starting the 'school' day – avoid staying in pyjamas!
- Involve your children in setting the timetable where possible (based around the summer term timetable produced by the school). It's a great opportunity for them to manage their own time better and it'll give them ownership.
- Check in with your children and try to keep to the timetable, but be flexible. If a task/activity is going well or they want more time, let it extend where possible.
- If you have more than 1 child at home, consider combining their timetables. For example, they might exercise and do maths together – see what works for your household.
- Designate a working space if possible and at the end of the day have a clear cut-off to signal school time is over.
- Stick the timetable up on the wall so everyone knows what they should be doing when and tick activities off throughout the day.
- Take stock at the end of each week. What's working and what isn't? Ask your children. Involve them, too.
- Distinguish between weekdays and weekends to separate school life and home life.
- Give them chores to do so they feel more responsible about the daily routine at home.
- Ask them to help you cook and bake.
- Accept that they'll probably watch more TV/spend time on their devices – that's ok, but you might want to set/agree some screen-time limits.

Please don't worry about your children getting behind with learning. Everyone's in the same boat.

Where to find learning resources online

There's plenty of support for parents online for everything from tools for home learning to PE:
